

returned it for the purpose of having his name engraved upon it.

Sarto is the man whom Pope Leo hoped would succeed him. In speaking of Sarto to Father Perosi, Leo said, more than a year ago:

"Hold him dear, Perosi, as in the future he will be able to do much for you. We firmly believe he will be our successor."

Sarto was educated in the Salisian institute at Cologno. He was always of a serious turn of mind and when a young man his rector said of him that he had "never been a child." For the most of his years he was a parish priest in the province of Venice, finally becoming a bishop. It was then that his high executive qualities and deep learning first became known to the authorities of the church.

An Attractive Personality.

He brings to his high office a character of modesty, unusual energy, and fine qualities as an administrative officer and organizer.

In many quarters the belief is entertained that Sarto's reign is likely to see the accomplishment of some agreement between the Vatican and the Quirinal. Some years ago he publicly announced his joy when there were strong probabilities of a union between church and state. His statements at the time created a sensation.

Was Humbert's Friend.

The late King Humbert was Sarto's personal friend and graciously acceded to his request to be allowed to assume the title of "Patriarch of Venice." King Emmanuel, it is known, is his warm admirer. Crispi, the distinguished statesman, and for years the premier of Italy, whose hostility to the entire Catholic hierarchy is well known, had the highest regard for Sarto and used him as an intermediary in dealing with the Vatican.

The people generally believe Sarto's election presages peace between the state and church and for this reason his election is everywhere hailed with enthusiasm.

STATE DEPARTMENT HEARS OF ELECTION

The following announcement of the election of the Pope was received at the State Department this morning from L. M. Iddings, charge at the American embassy in Rome:

"Rome, August 4, 9:05 a. m. "Secretary of State, Washington: "Cardinal Sarto elected Pope. Age, sixty-eight. IDDINGS."

LOUBET AND DELCASSE SEND CONGRATULATIONS

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The foreign office received information of the election of Cardinal Sarto at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. President Loubet and the minister for foreign affairs, Delcasse, are in the provinces, and the result was immediately communicated to them. Both at once sent messages of congratulation to the new Pope.

The officials of the government express themselves as satisfied with the choice of the conclave. They regard him as an able diplomat.

RAMPOLLA TRANSFERRED HIS SUPPORT TO SARTO

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Central News says that Cardinal Sarto was elected Pope by forty-five votes. His election followed the decision of the Rampolla party this morning to transfer its support to him.

SAENGERBUND NOMINATES CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

A preliminary ballot was cast for the officers and board of directors of the Washington Saengerbund at a meeting of the society held in the clubhouse last Sunday. Although this ballot was not for the nomination of candidates and not the regular election, which will be held the first Sunday in September, it insured to an election in many cases where there is but one nomination for an office.

The nominations were as follows: For president, F. Claudy; vice president, John Waldmann; financial secretary, Louis Kimmel; recording secretary, Frederick Carl; treasurer, Louis Faber; librarian, William Hannemann; musical director, Henry Xander; directors, Hugo Schulze, Karl Xander, Ad. Levy, A. F. Joras, H. A. Scheuermann, Rud. Schneider, William Berens, Jr., William F. Lutz, August J. Lohse, and John L. Schaffert.

The Winter Hardware Company, with a capital stock of $50,000.

WESTERN MARYLAND MAY CROSS CANAL

Order Issued by Washington County Court.

VICTORY FOR THE WABASH

Mr. Rayner Will Consider Case and Forward Opinion to Board of Public Works.

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 4.—It has been learned that an order has been obtained from the circuit court for Washington county by counsel for the Western Maryland Railroad allowing the road, conditionally, to cross the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal with bridges.

The order provides that the board of public works may proceed to approve the plans for the bridges and that the railroad company shall then report to the circuit court the action of the board of public works, to the end that a further order may be passed by the court prescribing the terms and conditions upon which the railroad may proceed to the erection of the bridges.

This action may perhaps change the situation and expedite the work of construction. It depends largely upon the opinion of Attorney General Rayner to the board of public works as to what the outcome of this order will now be. If Mr. Rayner holds that the board of public works can proceed, then the matter will come up at once in court, and there will probably be no further delay.

Mr. Rayner was asked whether the counsel for the Western Maryland Railroad had sent him a copy of this order, and replied:

"Yes, strange to say, I have just received it. The board of public works ought to have had it two weeks ago. I cannot understand why it was not given to the board of public works. If this had been done it would have been forwarded to me and, of course, I would have considered it. I never saw a line of it until just this moment, when counsel sent it to me. I am not prepared to say what my opinion will be upon the presentation of this new document, but will carefully consider it, and forward my views to the board of public works."

PREDICTS FAILURE FOR NEW RED CROSS SCHEME

Simon Wolf Discovers Small Interest in "First Aid" Project.

"If Miss Barton's new annex to the Red Cross Society does not receive any better support than the society has had during the last few years, it will be an organization in name only," Simon Wolf remarked, when asked if he had heard of the new relief association, which Miss Barton is reported to be about to organize as a Red Cross auxiliary, with its first branch at Oxford, Mass., her home town.

Washington members of the Red Cross have not been informed of Miss Barton's latest project, but are of the opinion that it is a mere elaboration of the scheme proposed by Miss Barton several months ago.

At that time she issued a circular ignoring the charges against her mismanagement of the Red Cross and setting forth a plan to organize a relief association with branches in all factory towns and cities. She stated it was her purpose to give instruction in relieving sick and injured persons pending the arrival of physicians.

Her plan was to prepare "first relief cases" and sell them to all owners of factories, mills and other buildings where accidents are liable to occur. From the sale of these she hoped to raise sufficient funds to pay the expenses of the association.

This appeal of Miss Barton was regarded by "the minority" as a mere pretext to avoid answering its criticisms, and to make it appear the Red Cross is extending its work and growing in spite of the efforts of Washingtonians to have it reorganized on business lines.

The idea of extending Red Cross work through branch associations is said to be not original with Miss Barton. In fact her administration is said to have blocked such extension. At the last annual meeting Mabel T. Boardman advanced much this same plan, but it was ignored, it is said, because she had seen fit to insist that full financial statements should be made public by Miss Barton and the officers she has placed at the head of the society.

BISHOP DOUGHERTY SEES THE PRESIDENT

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 4.—Bishop Dougherty, lately appointed to the See of Nueva Casceres, in the Philippines, had a conference with President Roosevelt today over matters bearing on his new field of labor.

State Engineer Edward A. Bond, of Albany, was another caller at Sagamore Hill this morning. Judge W. H. Sanborn, of St. Paul; Melville E. Stone, and Assistant United States Treasurer Hamilton Fish were entertained at luncheon today.

PATENTS ISSUED.

There were 642 patents and 15 designs allowed by the Patent Office last week. Of these 537 patents and designs were issued to citizens of the United States and 79 to citizens of foreign countries. Patents allowed to citizens of the District of Columbia were as follows: Linus P. Burrows, mixing and dissolving apparatus; Eugene A. Byrnes, electrolytic diaphragm; William L. Dunham and F. H. Hough, vapor burner; Annie M. Furrow, dust pan; Frank W. Howson, gas check.

TRUXTON BEALL NEAR LANGLEY'S AIRSHIP

Invades Precincts of Island Gun Club.

ASSERTS RIGHT AS MEMBER

May Take Up Residence There and Witness First Flight of "Bird." Ark Moved Up Stream.

WIDEWATER, Va., Aug. 4.—Langley's stronghold, the Island Gun Club, was stormed today by Truxton Beall, of Washington. In spite of the orders that no one shall be admitted to the island during the sojourn of the scientists and the strict watch that is kept, Mr. Beall asserted his rights as a charter member of the club and visited the clubhouse.

When Mr. Beall heard of the order that no one should visit the island and that Prof. Langley is boarding his aerial cube there, he determined to visit the club. He may take up his abode there and await the test of the "bird," which, it is expected, will soon be made by Langley's assistants.

"Buzzard" Anchorage Challenged. Still another change of base has been made by Prof. Langley's assistants. The ark Buzzard has been towed at least 200 yards upstream from the spot where it has been anchored since the great storm. The cable of the new anchor brought down to Widewater a few days ago by the United States tug Tecumseh was badly fouled with one of the buoys. It was thought best to "un-anchor" and get things shipshape again.

When the tug D. M. Key was made fast to the ark and started to tow it toward Washington the people of Widewater and the press correspondents thought that Langley had either determined to give up his test or had indeed caught them napping and was off to Washington with the results of the experiment carefully hidden in the brain of his aerial corps.

All Quiet Again.

This fear, however, was quickly set at rest, for the anchor was again dropped from the stern of the ark after it had been towed about 200 yards.

Little more has been done either on the superstructure or the flying machine proper. Everything points to an early trial. Three weeks have now been passed by the aerial corps at the Island Club and on the ark off Widewater. Before the ark was towed to Widewater, the scientists were at work on it for weeks while at the Eighth Street pier in Washington.

ARRESTS HER BROTHERS TO PROTECT HER LOVER

Two Men Bound Over to Keep Hands Off "Strong Man."

HENDERSON, Ky., Aug. 4.—Miss Rebecca Hawkins caused the arrest of her brothers, George and Edward, and had them bound over to keep hands off Paul Mayes.

Paul Mayes is the sweetheart of Miss Hawkins. He was the "strong man" feature in the recent street fair. It was there Mayes and Miss Hawkins met. Her brothers frowned upon him in vain. Mayes is now at the Guthrie fair. He wants to come here to visit Miss Hawkins, and to facilitate that visit she swore out warrants against her brothers.

MILES NOT CANDIDATE FOR G. A. R. COMMANDER

"I am not a candidate for commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic," said Gen. Nelson A. Miles this morning. "It is not likely that the place will be offered to me. General Black is prominently mentioned for the position and he will doubtless be the successful candidate."

"For years I have been identified with the G. A. R. I have longed to see the great points of the organization and shall go to San Francisco with the Maryland delegation."

NO QUICK ACTION ON MILLER CHARGES

Accused Bookbinder Must Have Time for Reply.

It is improbable that the Miller case will be disposed of by Mr. Palmer within the very near future, as has been predicted in certain quarters.

The Public Printer will not take up, either today or tomorrow, the charges against Miller which have been filed against him. When these charges will be taken up is indefinite.

In the meantime the case is in statu quo. The arbitration committee is quietly awaiting action on the part of the Government before making further moves.

President Tatum, of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, has left Washington. Mr. Barrett, president of the local union, said today that he did not look for his return unless international matters relating to the East should call him here.

Not only within the Printing Office has Miller strength, they say, but also in high political circles.

Tonight there will be a regular monthly meeting of the bookbinders at Topographical Temple, which will be attended by the arbitration committee. It is thought the committee's conservative and temperate course in the conduct of the Miller case will be indorsed.

ROSE HAD GOOD TIME WHILE MONEY LASTED

Stole From Railway Company and Is Willing to Suffer.

William Rose, twenty-three years old, who also goes by the name of William Bradley, was arrested in this city last night by Detectives Parham and O'Brien, charged with embezzling $452 from the Manhattan Elevated Railroad, of New York. Rose admits his guilt, and expressed a perfect willingness to return to New York in custody of Detective Sergeant Samuel E. Price and Attorney A. M. Birdsell, of that city, the latter representing the Fidelity and Casualty Company, his bondsman.

When arrested Rose had on him just one 5-cent piece, this notwithstanding that he stole the money from the railroad company no longer ago than July 21. He expresses no regrets, however, for he says he had a good time with the money, and now is willing to take his medicine. Rose was a ticket agent, and handled fair sums of money constantly. He had a habit of playing the races, and suddenly found himself lower, and $100 in debt to the company. He then decided to take all there was in sight. He found $352 in the cash drawer, which he appropriated.

From New York he went to Philadelphia and then came here a week ago. Here he played the races and lost, had to pawn his clothes, and was down to his last nickel when arrested. The party left for New York this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

OLD ROYAL YACHT TO BE BROKEN UP

Orders for Destruction Issued by King Edward.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Orders have been issued for the old royal yacht Victoria and Albert to be broken up. By command of the King the work is to be done in Portsmouth dockyard to prevent the objectionable hawking about of mementoes made from pieces of the wood.

The Victoria and Albert was certainly the most handsome of any of the old royal yachts, and it was not to be wondered at that the late Queen was so passionately fond of her. It was on this yacht that Queen Victoria spent many of the happiest of her early married days.

It was on the same vessel that the present King and his younger sisters and brothers used to gambol with delight in the days of their childhood, and it was on her that they enjoyed, when they had grown up, many of the most pleasant trips of their lives.

The only drawback was that her cabin accommodation was insufficient for present-day requirements, but she was ever a splendid sea boat and a most comfortable floating residence.

STEWART DIDN'T KILL KATHERINE JORDAN

Indisputable Proof of This Fact Obtained by Capt. Boardman.

John Wesley Stewart, the dead negro ex-convict, did not murder Katherine Jordan, the Hillsdale negro fortune teller, on Christmas Eve last, notwithstanding all the alleged confessions of that crime attributed to him since he died. This much is now definitely known, and the "Jordan mystery" is as impenetrable as ever.

When Sergeant Anderson, chief of the Anacostia substation, learned of Stewart's alleged confessions, he set to work on the case with such vigor that he speedily obtained a lot of corroborative circumstances. Then came the news, by telegram, that Stewart was not released from the Moundsville penitentiary until one week after the murder. The case then made was so strong, however, that Saturday Captain Boardman thought it necessary to make a visit to Moundsville.

It was reasoned that, while Stewart's discharge dated from January 1, he might, as a favor, have been allowed to actually leave the confines of the prison a few days earlier. Capt. Boardman's investigation dispelled the last doubt, however. Not only the prison records, but the receipt for Stewart's transportation and other papers, signed on January 1, were shown him.
